Ganryu Capital Partners on 'Private Markets for Private Investors'

July 16, 2021 | Issue No. 135

In anticipation that over the next decade private individuals will have similar private markets allocation ratios to institutional investors, Ganryu Capital Partners has published a white paper titled, "Private Markets for Private Investors," which provides an overview of: (i) the market dynamics and the risks of using feeder funds to raise capital, (ii) the strategic importance for managers to diversify their investor base, and (iii) the specific product requirements of private investors and their distribution channels. The paper is available to download here.
