Thanks for Joining – Cadwalader Capital Call Securitization Conference

April 4, 2025

Yesterday, Cadwalader, in partnership with Fitch Ratings, hosted the first-ever Capital Call Securitization Conference at our New York office. The event brought together industry leaders and experts for an afternoon of insightful discussions on the latest trends and opportunities in the capital call securitization market.

The conference featured a distinguished lineup of speakers who provided valuable perspectives on the evolving landscape of fund finance and structured credit. Attendees engaged in thought-provoking conversations about market developments, investor appetite, and the future of securitization in private funds.

Following the panels, guests continued networking at a cocktail reception sponsored by Fitch Ratings, where discussions carried on in a more informal setting.

Thank you to all who attended and contributed to making this event a success.

In next week's issue, we will provide recaps of each of the panels. Please see some pictures from the amazing event below.
