Public Market Declines Have LPs Preparing — Institutional Investor

March 27, 2020 | Issue No. 70

Institutional Investor reports that LPs are gearing up to sell some of their private equity assets in preparation for the continuation of the coronavirus-triggered market rout. The reasons for the potential liquidations vary from the need for cash to portfolio rebalancing. The report notes that LPs are not panicked, but they are concerned and want to be prepared.
