

Fund Finance Friday

PEI Looks at LP Creditworthiness

September 18, 2020 | Issue No. 95

Should potential investors evaluate the creditworthiness of a fund's current LPs in assessing whether to invest? Fund industry leader Alicia Gregory, who is the head of private equity at the Australian SWF, thinks so. In her view, reports Private Equity International, included investors, whose capital commitments are secured against for the fund's credit facility, could otherwise be left overexposed in situations where less creditworthy LPs default on their capital calls. To learn more – click here.