

Real Estate Finance Hiring

August 26, 2025

Here is who's hiring in real estate finance:

JPMorganChase is seeking a Credit Risk Vice President on the Real Estate Banking team in New York, New York. The VP will be responsible for a portfolio of clients and will have primary day-to-day responsibility for managing and monitoring credit exposure to them. They will work with a client base of leading real estate development and service companies. The portfolio of credit products the team manages and monitors include real estate asset level financings for ground up construction, bridge facilities and stabilized term loans, entity level working capital lines of credit, derivatives and treasury lines. Learn more here.