ORDER REGARDING SOURCE CODE INSPECTION IN PALO ALTO, CALIFORNIA

The Court held a telephone conference on June 15, 2020. For the reasons stated on the record at the hearing, and with the agreement of Dropbox, the Court Orders that Defendant Dropbox, Inc. (“Defendant” or “Dropbox”) produce its source code at the offices of its counsel of record in Palo Alto, California. For the reasons stated on the record at the hearing, the Court further Orders that Plaintiff SynKloud Technologies, LLC’s (“Plaintiff” or “SynKloud”) inspect Dropbox’s source code at the offices of Dropbox’s counsel of record in Palo Alto, California. SynKloud’s inspection of Dropbox’s code at the offices of its counsel of record in Palo Alto, California shall be considered a necessary service to assist in compliance with a non-elective legally required activity. Consistent with Dropbox's prior representations, Dropbox will make this code available for inspection upon five business days' notice by counsel for SynKloud when COVID-19 restrictions are in play. Once the parties agree that COVID-19 restrictions have been lifted, Dropbox will make this code available for subsequent inspections upon two business days' notice pursuant to the terms of the protective order in these actions.

Signed this 18th day of June, 2020
