

Washington's Top Lawyers

Here are Washington's best legal minds.

Sense of Securities

If you're a big-time investor or work for a publicly traded company, the Securities and Exchange Commission may one day come knocking. If the SEC is asking tough questions, you'll want one of these securities experts on your side.

Bruce Hiler, Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft

Playing Monopoly

Well, not exactly. In real life, completing a merger or acquisition is a little more complicated than landing on Park Place. These attorneys are the best in the business for helping clients deal with antitrust and competition laws.

Charles "Rick" Rule, Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft

Gone Bankrupt

In this economy, many have heard the unsettling sound of angry creditors on the other end of the phone. If you or your company can no longer keep them at bay, you can find an ally in this stellar group of bankruptcy attorneys.

Mark Ellenberg, Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft

Photographs did not appear in original article.